

The sixth session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress will be held in San Francisco on the second Tuesday in February next and will continue four days. The territory embraced in the representation to this Congress includes the whole State of Louisiana and all that part of the United States west of the Mississippi. The object is to discuss all questions affecting the West that may be the subject of legislation at Washington, and to speak, through resolutions, to the National Congress; hence the silver question, irrigation of arid lands, disposition of public lands, mining legislation, improvement of harbors, the Nicaragua canal and many other matters of importance to the West will be considered.

The basis of representation, as announced by Julius Soutag of San Francisco, Secretary of the Congress, is as follows:

The Governor of each State and Territory has the right to appoint ten delegates. The County Commissioners or County Judges have a right to appoint one delegate from each county; the Mayors of all towns and cities select one delegate for each 5,000 people, or fractional part thereof, and no matter how small a town may be, if it has a Mayor, it is entitled to one delegate; all commercial bodies in all towns and cities may appoint collectively the same number as the Mayor. This last includes all chambers of commerce, boards of trade, real estate exchanges, produce exchanges, cotton exchanges and all other similar commercial bodies; each of these can be represented by as many delegates as the city from which they come is entitled to. All transportation companies are entitled to one delegate each, and Governors, District Judges and Chairmen of County Boards of Commissioners are ex-officio delegates to the Congress.

Five sessions of the Trans-Mississippi Congress have been held, one at Galveston, one at Denver, one at Omaha, one at New Orleans and one at Ogden. The resolutions adopted at each and all of these Congresses were thoroughly Western in character. They had the effect of concentrating public opinion on matters affecting the West and each session increases the influence of the Congress in shaping national legislation. It is important that Nevada should be fully represented at the ensuing session, and as the Midwinter Fair will be formally opened by the time the Congress meets delegates can combine pleasure with business.

This State will be entitled to about fifty delegates and its full quota should be in attendance, as questions of the greatest importance to Nevada will be discussed and acted upon.

WORK FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

San Francisco business men are taking steps to furnish work for the unemployed at living wages. A committee appointed at a meeting of the citizens invited the members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, Produce Exchange, Manufacturers and Bar Associations, and the heads of the municipal, State and Federal departments to a meeting to devise means to give those who want work, and cannot get it, employment. It is estimated that there are about 2,500 permanent residents of the city, 900 of whom have families, who are suffering because of enforced idleness. At $1.50 per day for the married men and $1 per day for the single ones it will require about $30,000 per month to pay them. It is thought that $100,000 can be easily raised for the purpose of giving those persons employment, and that in two or three months their labor will be required in private enterprises.

All persons seeking employment are required to register. This gives the relief committee opportunity to ascertain the extent of the distress and determine the amount of money required to relieve it. It also enables the relief committee to distinguish those who will work when they can get it from the professional idler or tramp.

OLD HICKORY'S DAY.

The Ladies Hermitage Association, organized to care for General Jackson's old home at Hermitage, Tennessee, has issued a circular which states that at 10 A. M. and 12 noon, on January 8th, 1894, the new Liberty bell will be rung and appropriate exercises will be held to celebrate the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans and its gallant hero, General Jackson. The ladies request that all the bells at the capitals of the several States be rung at the hours specified.

Years ago the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, which was fought January 8, 1815, was generally celebrated throughout the West and South. Since the civil war the day has not been observed to any great extent, but the Ladies Hermitage Association is reviving interest in the day, which in the State of Louisiana is a legal holiday.

RIGHT HONORABLE WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE, Prime Minister of Great Britain, celebrated the 84th anniversary of his birthday by working hard in his study during the day and attending a session of the Commons in the evening. Congratulatory messages from many prominent personages were received by him.

Chicago is raising $1,000,000 to feed the poor.

AGAIN AT LIBERTY.

Chris Evans Makes His Escape from the Fresno Jail.

CHRIS EVANS ESCAPES.

A Daring and Successful Plan Gives Him His Liberty.

FRESNO, December 29.—Chris Evans escaped from jail at 6 o'clock last evening, at the point of a revolver. Fresno is up in arms and excitement runs high.

The last act of Evans before leaving Fresno was to shoot City Marshal John D. Morgan in front of the Advent Church, at the corner of O and Mariposa streets. Evans shot at two or three other persons, but so far as heard from no others were hit. He escaped in a cart, which he took from an Express mail carrier a few minutes after shooting City Marshal Morgan.

The scheme of the escape was deep laid, and Evans succeeded in securing a confederate to help him out in his purpose. This confederate, too, seems to have been led into it solely by a desire to be desperate and to assist a desperate man.

This man has been a waiter in Stock's restaurant, and no one ever supposed that he would make so wild a break. But he was the man. Mrs. Evans arrived in Fresno and went to the jail as usual and was admitted to the cell where her husband was confined. No extra or unusual care or caution was exercised, but it is reasonably certain that she did not smuggle into the jail the pistols with which the jailer was forced to give up the keys. Her work was, no doubt, to acquaint her husband of the plan and to let him carry it out.

Mrs. Evans has many times furnished private meals for her husband in jail and nothing unusual was thought of it when the supposed Stock waiter arrived with a tray of victuals.

Evans was let out of his cell into the large corridor, but was still behind two iron doors. This space is used as a place of recreation and exercise for the prisoners. Mrs. Evans and the waiter were admitted to this corridor and the door was locked, they three being there alone.

In a few minutes the waiter called for the door to be opened and the jailer obeyed the order, but as soon as the door was opened the waiter drew a long bright pistol and pointing it at Jailer Scott's head said in a low voice: "Hold up your hands."

Evans also drew a pistol and seconded the waiter's order. The jailer obeyed. He unlocked the front door and accompanied the two out, leaving Mrs. Evans in the jail.

At the Advent Church they ran against Wm. Wyatt and City Marshal John D. Morgan, and in the struggle that ensued Evans shot the Marshal through the body, but it is not thought the wound is fatal.

In the excitement it is not known just what was the succession of events here, but Evans and the waiter tried to get a team loose which was tied at that place, but the horses were wild and began to plunge, and finally broke loose and escaped, and Evans and the waiter were left on foot.

Walking on, the waiter and Evans ran against a newsboy, who was returning from delivering the evening papers. He was compelled to give up his rig, and the two took seats and drove off.

Posses were immediately formed and started in pursuit, and are scouring the country for the escaped bandit.

Some of the posesses that went out during the day returned this evening, but brought no tidings of the escaped bandit. New posesses are being organized in the surrounding country.

Up to midnight Evans and the waiter had eluded their pursuers.

DAMAGE IN A TRAIN ROBBERY.

Important Points Decided in a Case Against the Northern Pacific.

SEATTLE, Wash., December 29.—Important points of law were decided by Judge Hanford in the United States Court to-day in the case of Henry F. Guimaraes against the Northern Pacific Railroad Company for $25,000 for the fright and shock sustained by his wife and for the loss of $875 cash and valuables in the train robbery at Hot Springs, November 18, 1893.

The Judge instructed the jury that the company was not liable for the loss of more money than was necessary for traveling expenses or that a prudent man would carry with him when he had other means of safely bestowing it. He also ruled that while the railroad company must care for the safety of its passengers, it cannot be called upon to insure them against loss by robbery nor to carry force enough to repel robbers. On these instructions the jury found for the defendants.

Wholesale Chinese Immigration to be Attempted.

MONTELOVA, Mex., December 29.—Several hundred Chinese miners and agricultural laborers are on their way to a point below Del Rio, Mexico, where they expect to cross the Rio Grande and effect an entrance into the United States. The Chinese are under the guidance of immigration agents, who have contracted to land them safely within the line for $50 a head. The customs authorities have been notified of the movement.

The jury in the Pendergast case rendered a verdict yesterday at Chicago of murder in the first degree and fixed the death penalty. When the verdict was announced Pendergast utterly collapsed; he sunk back in his chair, his chin dropped and he looked appealingly at the court and jury, tears were glistening in his eyes from which before had only shot forth glances of hate.

General Master Workman Sovereign yesterday issued an address to the laboring men of the country, asking them to protest against the proposed issue of bonds, and quoting the Knights of Labor as follows: "That interest bearing bonds, bills, credit or notes shall never be issued by the Government; and when the need arises, the emergency shall be met by the issue of legal tender non-interest-bearing money." He asks that the local assemblies discuss the plank at their first meeting in January.

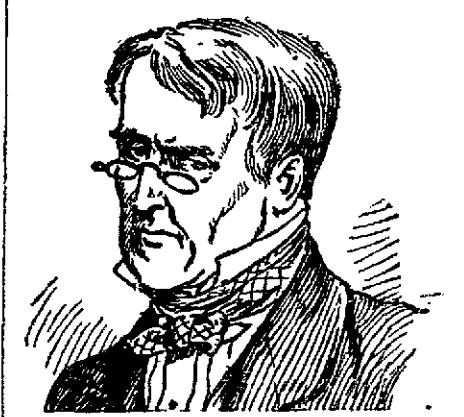

Overruled the Demurrer.

In the District Court yesterday Judge Cheney overruled the demurrer in the case of the State vs. Marcus Fredrick questioning the constitutionality of that portion of the act making it a misdemeanor to give away cigarette papers. The grounds of the decision were that where there is no open violation of the constitution, as in this case, the presentation must be in favor of the constitutionality of the statute.

A communication from Humboldt county to the JOURNAL states that there is much dissatisfaction expressed at the result of the English trial. The trial is said to have been a farce and all concerned are sorely disappointed yet the writer desires that his identity should not be disclosed, and for that reason the JOURNAL cannot give the article a place in its columns.

I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. Telling the Truth.

It's common saying that newspapers lie, but when an editor writes a thing and puts his name to it you may be sure he is telling the truth. Read this: "We have never before said one word in favor of any patent medicine advertisement in our columns, but having given Simmons Liver Regulator a fair trial, we do not hesitate to say, that for Dyspepsia and general debility it cannot be excelled."—FRED M. CHILDS, editor News, Kenton, Ohio.

The Courier says: "A number of young people left the church at Genoa Sunday evening on account of a cold wave which swept over the breastworks of their religion and tore down the ardor of their enthusiasm." Those young people evidently did not heed the Mosaic injunction against building fires on the Sabbath day.

The revival of good times is at hand, if the resumption of fifteen distilleries in Kentucky is a sign.

Insurance men figure the fire losses in Chicago this year will be about $4,000,000. The loss in 1890 was $2,074,862; in 1891, $3,292,045; and in 1892, $1,640,275.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Cold and Warm Waves—Moons in the Solar System.

Copied righted 1893 by W. T. Foster.

St. Joseph, Mo., December 20.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from January 23 to 26th, and the next will reach the Pacific Coast about January 7th, cross the Western mountains by the close of the 8th, the Great Central valleys from 9th to 11th and the Eastern States about the 12th.

The low barometer will probably strike the continent about the north-west corner of California and keep south of the 40th parallel, reaching its greatest force near Washington City about the 12th.

On the front of this storm rain will fall in many places, and following it a snow storm which will develop its greatest force west of the Mississippi about the 12th.

The warm wave will cross the Western mountains about the 7th, the Great Central valleys about the 9th, and the Eastern States about the 11th. The cool wave, which will be a cool wave in the Northern States, will cross the Western mountains about the 10th, the Great Central valleys about the 12th and the Eastern states about the 14th. A cold wave is expected to cross the continent from the 4th to 8th.

MOONS OF THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

Three moons have recently been discovered; one with Jupiter and two with Mars. These discoveries make it uncertain as to the number of moons in the solar system and also gave evidence that the planets are still capturing comets or asteroids and transforming them into moons.

Not only are the planets capturing these wandering bodies, but sometimes they lose them, as in the case a few years ago in which Jupiter captured a comet and after holding it six months or more, let it go again. Venus has also lost her moon.

Prof. Proctor says: "No reasonable doubt can be entertained as to the moonless condition of Venus, and yet if I had begun this paragraph by stating the evidence in favor of the existence of a satellite, I believe that nearly every reader would have come to the conclusion that most certainly the planet of love has an attendant orb. They are not amateur observers only who have seen a moon attending Venus, but astronomers such as Cassini and Short, the latter with two different telescopes and four different eyepieces. Four times between May 31 and 11th, 1761, Montaigne saw a body near Venus which presented a phase similar to that of the planet, precisely as a moon would have done."

"From these observations M. Baudouin deduced for the new star a diameter of 2,000 miles and a distance from Venus nearly equal to that which separates our moon from the earth."

In March 1764 Rodiker was the enigmatical companion and Horrebow saw it a few days later, Montbaron saw it in varying positions on March 15th, 28th and 29th. Lastly Sheuton, who witnessed the transit of Venus in 1761, declares that he saw a satellite accompanying Venus across the face of the sun.

The above quotations show that Prof. Proctor believed that Venus once possessed a moon about the size of our own and that the planet has parted company with its satellite. Future inhabitants of our earth need not be surprised if the earth loses its moon or, on the other hand, captures another and holds the two. It would be but applying natural laws for a comet to come flitting this way and be caught in the earth's net of magnetic steamers that reach out on every side.

As far as known Mars has two moons, Jupiter five, Saturn eight, Uranus four and Neptune one; twenty-one in all, counting our own.

The diameter of our moon is 2,163 miles; those of Mars are very small, not over fifty miles in diameter; Jupiter's moons from 500 to 8,600 miles, Saturn's 4,000 miles and less, Uranus' 200 to 500 miles and Neptune about 2,000 miles.

One great puzzle presented to us by these moons and from which a most valuable lesson in meteorology is to be learned, is the fact that all of them revolve around their primaries nearly over the equators of the latter. Why? Our moon and one other are the exceptions.

What is the law that compels all the planets to revolve around the sun nearly over its equator and the moons in the planes of their primaries' equators? Find that law, and a riddle equal to that of the Sphinx will be solved. A very large portion of the weather changes is due to the influence of our moon and the otherwise unaccountable activity in the cloud belts of Jupiter's moons.

The fossilized idea that changes or phases of the moon have any influence on the weather must be discarded and instead we must look to its electromagnetic and gravitational effects.

TO GOVERNOR PENNOYER.

An Open Letter to the Brave Oregonian.

GOVERNOR PENNOYER:—While there is no man living whom I esteem more highly than yourself, I cannot think that all your assertions and conclusions are entirely correct, and when I criticize and question them, I trust I may not prove in the least offensive, for, with you, I am endeavoring in my humble sphere to free the people from the state of serfdom and slavery into which they have been plunged through the machinations of bad, unscrupulous men. You attribute the hard times to the present administration. In this I think you are mistaken. Had the President, instead of working against, done everything in his power for full remonetization, and say that silver had been restored to the place it held prior to 1873, the present panic, under our existing monetary laws, could not have been averted nor its direful consequences in the least mitigated. Of this you can convince yourself by a moment's consideration of the following facts:

First.—Our indebtedness, National, State, municipal and personal is $40,000,000,000 (forty billions).

Second.—The amount, after its full remonetization, of silver and gold that we can possibly hope to attain with which to pay this enormous debt is less than $2,000,000,000 (two billions).

Thirdly.—Had silver been fully remonetized nearly all the gold and silver in our country would have been owned by the rich bankers and it is in their power to lock it all up in their vaults and hold it at will. They have done, nor will they now place any money, though the security offered were gold and silver bullion.

This, sir, is emphatically the bankers' panic. It was planned more than thirty years ago, and why should you be surprised at its coming, when the people have for the past fifteen years been almost daily warned of its approach? The President may have aided, but he could not have averted it, besides, the remonetization of silver would not serve as a plaster to once dress over the foul ulcer that has spread over the entire country, much less cure the disease.

You say: "Repeated appeals have been made to me, as Governor of Oregon, to assemble the Legislature in order to alleviate this condition of affairs and avert an impending calamity. Redress is, however, not in our hands, but in yours, and hence this appeal to you."

It seems to me that you very much underestimate your powers as Governor of the State of Oregon. If your State was infested with a band of robbers at home, or from abroad, who were openly plundering and pillaging your people, how quickly would you feel called upon to suppress and punish them, even, if necessary, calling an extra session of the Legislature. Will you allow me to say to you that your State is infested with a band of robbers, a body of cowardly, sneaky thieves, who are robbing your people, men, women and children, indiscriminately; yes, and even babes in arms. While they work unseen, in the dark in perfect security, they, nevertheless, exist, and plunder your people every second in the minute, minute in the hour, hour in the day, day in the week, week in the month and month in the year. Their numbers are legion, and their places of rendezvous are, Wall street, New York and Threadneedle and Lombard streets, London. And do you mean to say that you cannot protect your people from the depredations of those cowardly sneakthieves? While you cannot create or put forth money of any kind, for money is a something that can only be created by an absolute sovereign, which you are not, you are endowed with a degree of sovereignty, such as to enable you to protect the lives, persons and property of your citizens, and it is clearly made your duty to do it. It is within your power to convene your Legislature, and pass stay laws, by, and through which no man can be robbed till such time as your sovereign shall have furnished your subjects with money in quantities sufficient for their needs. Do it and you will receive, not only the blessings of your own people, but the prayers for your welfare of the poor, downtrodden and oppressed throughout our entire land.

Respectfully yours,
H. H. HOGAN.

RENO BUSINESS HOUSES.

Some of the Firms That Are Doing Business Here.

H. B. RULE.
One of the leading real estate and insurance agents of Reno is Henry B. Rule, whose office is now in the store of S. O. Wells on the corner of Commercial Row and Sierra streets. Mr. Rule possesses the qualities essential to make a success in the real estate business and is a thorough rustler. He represents a large number of the leading insurance companies of the world, both for life and fire, and has negotiated policies upon a considerable portion of the dwellings and stores of Reno.

COHN & CLARK.
This firm does a good business buying and selling new and second-hand clothing and other goods; tailoring and cleaning clothes, and also carry a fine line of misfit goods.

MISS MOTLEY.
The millinery store of Miss Motley on Virginia street carries a fine line of the newest styles of ladies' bonnets, ribbons, feathers and other articles in the line of female adornment, which can only be appreciated by being seen.

MRS. E. E. THOMPSON.
Mrs. Thompson conducts a carpet weaving establishment in the first house east of the cattle bridge, where home made carpets are made to order.

WILSON & LEWERS.
Reno has not far from a hundred bicycles in use by the local cyclists and a large portion of these are "Columbias," purchased through the Wilson & Lewers agency of this city. The excellency of the Columbia bicycle is too well known to need comment.

H. L. FISH.
Mr. Fish is the pioneer real estate and insurance agent of Reno, and at his office in the First National Bank building is kept busy without regard to the condition of the times. He is the representative of a large number of the greatest insurance companies, and negotiates his full share of the policies issued. Mr. Fish is also a notary public and does considerable conveying.

CAMPERS' REUNION.

A Happy Party and an Enjoyable Evening.

Last summer a happy party of Reno people spent a number of days together camping out upon the shores of Lake Tahoe. Last evening they held a happy reunion at the residence of Judge Webster on Third and Center streets, and lived over again their summer's outing in pleasant reminiscences, songs and games.

Among those present were Rev. T. Magill, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Boyd and daughter, Addie and Della, Miss Frances Frey, Miss Persia Lemmon, Capt. Fred C. Frey, John Sunderland, Jr., Roy Sunderland, the Misses Katie and Annie Sunderland, Miss Margaret Magill, Charles Magill, John Magill, Chas. Richardson, Harry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Riter, the Misses Olive and Lily Douglas, Mr. F. Saxon, Prof. E. E. Winfrey, William Luke, Miss Echo Loder and Miss Stella Webster.

Among the games indulged in, the pinning the queue upon a Chinaman provoked no end of mirth. At about 11 o'clock the party adjourned to the basement of the Congregational Church where a banquet that would have made rapturous the heart of the most fastidious epicure was spread. The table decorations were in yellow and made an attractive setting for the china and crystal of the service. Mr. Magill acted as toast master and contributed to swell the good spirits of the guests with sallies of wit and wisdom. Among those who were unavoidably absent were Mrs. A. O. Potter and son.

Justice Court.

Jack Rutledge was yesterday tried before Justice Linn and a jury for vagrancy in living off the earnings of fallen women. Burt Gafford, another offender charged with a like misdemeanor, after the verdict rendered in the case of Rutledge, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty. Both will be sentenced at 10 o'clock to-day.

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Do your scalp itch? Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower

Is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of adapting research. Knowledge of the diseases of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither minerals nor oils. It is not a dye, but a delicately perfumed and refreshing foam. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions by using Skookum Root Hair Grower. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on the hair.

If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us and we will forward prepaid, on receipt of price. Grower, $1.00 per bottle; 6 for $5.00. Soap, 50c. per bar; 6 for $2.50.
